Facts, Fiction, Fancies and Fashion of Interest to the Women of Washington rested quietly in my room be-e dinner-hour. For I felt tired ought to slap him. He deserved it. I'd had a heap of men pals, al-nd brushing out my hair.

a taught her to assume. She apped my blue kimono about me. one of these candid ones had said. prepare the bath for madame," o read, perhaps. "Pass me down that book, please."

a shelf close to my bed. "Thank may ever see you!" you." I dismissed her.

were on Alice, and her foolishness And then a printed paragraph caught my eye. fond of playing with fire, of going over men.

as near the danger-line as possible, long as they do not cross it, of dered. dancing on the edge of the precipice without falling over." That "gave one furiously think," as the French say!

I read the paragraph again. eemed an echo of my own thoughts. of excitement! Love of But-was she happier? I won-notherhood and home. This perpet appreciated. Self-assurance counts this?" asked Uncle Wiggily. ual chasing of false gods-this end- for so much, always. Plus brains. less social game-it wearies me. Few people really know the truth acidulated little spinster who so obof us to camouflage. We don't want in her methods, she hasn't reached the world to fathom us. We like to the hopeless stage! appear mysterious, misunderstood. But so many of us are just fakers, taking all, and giving nothing. I twisted round into a more com-

w behind my fluffy head, and gave the book a more interested perusal. power!" "Women are disloyal to other omen whenever it becomes a question of men." I read.

I flung the book down, irritated. A complacent, smug, su-

Glancing at the name below the een perpetrated by a man! But-a grain of truth lay in his crifice her own best womanfriend, if the stake were some stupid meaningless flirtation with a man! Oh, well, we weren't all like Alice and thank heaven for it! I-Helene St. Aubyns-was a dirferent type. Not that I disliked or despised men-no! But-apart from Jim-they couldn't rouse emotion in me. I'd grown weary of their flattery-their unoriginal methods of attack.

friends with men, without all this ject in which you are interested? hectic bother? Wasn't friendship If so, remember they are put there omething very precious, very beau- at your disposal. tiful? I was capable of friendship. Jim had often told me so.

"The best little pal a fellow ever had," he'd often said. Tony, too, in different fashion, had reiterated Jim's words. Yes, I could

Then my wandering eye caught a new sentence in this irritating nov-

"There is no such thing as Platonic friendship between red-blooded men and women. It is less-or I made a little, angry face. This by E. T. Thurston.

Buy Now

Save Money

Novel.

Alice's maid—a kindly Irish girl—hovered about me for a moment. I longed for her to go. Was there mything that I needed? she inquired solicitously.

She insisted on removing the hairhad grown a shade domineering—had grown a shade domineering—h from my thick, curly tresses, had wanted all my company, to the brushing out my hair. exclusion of other "friends." There from my thick, curly tresses, had wanted all my company, to the Johnnie answered, and said: exclusion of other "friends." There "Oh, I can't go to school today, had been scenes of jealously, re- Uncle Wiggily; I don't feel well. My id insisted that I lie down on the "I just can't keep up this cool and "I shall return in half an hour, level-headed friendship game! If you won't marry me, then I'm off. he added smiling amjably.

You tantalize me, you fascinating little witch! And then you laugh ight beside me. Madame might like at me-or stare in mock surprise with those big, cool, beautiful eyes of yours—until I long to kiss you. and carry you far away to some pointed to one of the latest novels desert island where no other man Remembering this, I had to smile, With careless fingers I turned to Then I the pages of the book. My thoughts tolerantly: Then I read on, this time more "Women love pursuit, and are easily reconciled to capture. The besetting sin of all women is vanomen today are increasingly ity—the consciousness of power Was this really true? I pon-

> Yes, I'll admit it. We all-from Cleopatra downwards—do enjoy this sense of domination. "The besetting sin of all women is their conscious-

It mess of power over men." We trade upon that power-in business life-in Undergrounds-oh, Restlessness! Those things everywhere! But-why call it a beformed the keynote of the modern setting sin?" No sin about it! It's voman's birthright!

Of course, there are some women who do seem to lack that "con-At heart I do believe I am old- sciousness of power." Poor things! fashioned. I believe in wifehood, So stupid of them! They never are I thought of Mary Higgins, the viously pines for matrimony—and can't achieve it. Mary is quite forty-but if she were only clever

It's Thackeray who wrote that "any woman, unless she has a positive hump, can marry any man she pleases. But," he continues, "the fortable position, stuck an extra pil- little dears are like the beasts of the squirrel house Uncle Wiggily uriousness. the field, and don't know their own gat down to rest on a big, flat log,

I smiled amused. And then I. read, in this new novel: "It is possible for any reasonably woman up to 45 to get a I dislike that horribly superior say- reasonably satisfactory husband if ng. A man had writen that, I was she will work to get him as a man works to get money. be joyous news for Mary Higgins!) A knock came at my door, and title. I was satisfied. Yes, this ag- Alice's head popped in. She handed gravating piece of sentiment had me a glorious bunch of violets and said the Pip, congratulatory-like carnations.

"Get up, Helene. Mr. Travis words—although I hated him. For Lloyd has sent you these, I expect Uncle Wiggily, thoughts of Alice surged through him here at any moment."

"As if you no my consciousness. Alice—always Again I smiled. For me, it wasn't the bad chap. I want your souse, predatory in her instincts—would necessary "to work." It never had of course. And I see you have some been necessary

INTERESTING BOOKS AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The following interesting books may be found on the shelves at the Why couldn't women be plain Public Library. Do they cover a sub-If so, remember they are put there An Autobiography From My Youth

Up, by Mrs. M. E. M. Sangster. The Fine Art of Photography, by P. L. Anderson. Helena, by Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

Oranges and Lemons, by M. C. E. Wemyss. The Owners of the Lazy D, by W. P. White.

People Like That, by Mrs. K. L. L. Bosher. Spears of Destiny, by A. D. H.

804 Seventh Street N. W.

R. OLKERS

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

reatest Hat Sale Ever Held!

Only a Few More Days Left here in Washington.

2,000 new advanced spring models, all offered now, when women are planning to buy their Spring Hats, at less than wholesale prices. All the newest novelty straws and fabrics, all the handsomest and richest of ostrich, flower and ribbon ornaments, all the loveliest spring colors! A Hat sale that will be remembered as the greatest millinery value giving event ever staged

Many of the Hats Are

"One of a Kind"

Buy Now and Save Money

No Hats Sold to Dealers," to Give the Public a Chance to Get Bargains

"Come, Billie! Johnnie! Time to go to schoo!" called Uncle Wiggily to the two Bushytail squirrel boys one morning. "Don't be late!"

"All right, I'm coming!" answered Billie. "And the lady mouse teacher told me to bring to school the banjo you made for me out of a starch box. I'm going to play music this afternoon."

"That will be nice," said the rabbit gentleman. "But how about Johnnie? Isn't he getting up?"

Out from the dried leaf blankets, under which he and Billie had slept, nose is hot and my tail is cold, and I think I have the epizootis." And when the muskrat lady, who, with the bunny gentleman, was vis-iting for a while at the Bushytall squirrel house, looked at Johnnie,

"He is a very ill little Bushytail chap! Better get Dr. Possum."
And when Billie had gone to school and the animal doctor had looked at Johnnie's tongue, Uncie Wiggily wanted to know how ill his little squirrel nephew really

"Oh, he might be worse," Dr. Possum. "If he stays in the house three or four days and has bread, with sassafras butter on it, he'll be all right."

"Could he have a little jelly?" asked Nurse Jane. 'Yes, he may have some huckleberry jelly if you can get any," Dr. Possum answered.

And when Dr. Possum had gone, with his powders and pills that cure all your ills, the rabbit gentleman started out to find some huckleberry jelly for Johnnie. "What's that? Huckleberry jelly?" cried Mr. Whitewash, in his jolly big voice. "I have just one jar left, and you shall have it." He brought out the huckleberry jelly for Uncle Wiggily.

"Indeed, no. Take it to Johnnie with my best wishes," laughed the Polar bear. 'But be careful of it. jelly is leaking out a little. Awfully sticky stuff, it is, too-huckleberry jelly! I'd better wrap it in a paper for you."

Losing no time, Uncle Wiggily hopped on back to poor, ill Johnnie knowing the jelly would do him placing the jar of huckleberry jelly beside him. After a while he felt better, and huckleberry jelly. have been waiting for you, and amazing. "Have you?

jelly to go with it. It makes me think of a little verse—'Jelly and souse should be in each house.' And now I'll just nibble a little off your left ear and then I'll take some off your right and then-"Well' you shan't have any of Johnnie's jelly!" cried Uncle Wiggily, jumping up, and taking hold of the jar Mr. Whitewash had given him. The jar stuck to the log a little, where the sticky jelly had leaked out, but Mr. Longears managed to get it loose. And then he started to run, thinking, of course, the Pip would run after him.

"But maybe I can run faster this time," thought Uncle Wiggily. Maybe I can get away." He looked back, but, to his surprise, the Pip was still sitting on

"I wonder why he doesn't chase me?" thought the bunny. And in "Here! Come back here! Don't run away like that and leave me The World of Wonderful Beality, jelly! Come back and let me nibble log! I'm all stuck fast in the sticky

Buy Now

Save Money

Simple Little Tub Frock of Checked Gingham Pleases

BY CORA MOORE.

the tubable materials that is strik- of material extended on each side. good. And when he was almost at | ingly felt in these days of over-lux- This is folded under and the under ing they are going to be cheaper, Valenciennes lace is left full except used to sell for as low as 18 or 20 in such a way as to form generous was just going to start off again, cents a yard. Just to enlighten you pockets, when, all of a sudden, out from be- I will give a bit of personal gossip. Miss s

New York's Fashion Authority. plain and the waist a regulation New York,-There is something blouse with pretty frill-edged collar particularly inspiring about ging- and cuffs, but the junic is a bit odd. hams and percales, linens and all It consists of a straight front piece edge sewed to the skirt, while the outer edge with a narrow frilling of these ginghams and calicoes that where it is caught at the side back.

Miss Shepley adds a patent leathhind a sassafras bush popped the Ruth Shepley, who is "Eva" in er belt to the dress and wears with bad old Pipsisewah, and down he "Adam and Eva." paid $62, includ- it a coarse black straw hat faced sat on the log, close beside Uncle ing tax, for the brown and white with satin and decorated with a Wiggily and next to the jar of checked Scotch gingham she wears band of velvet ribbon that ends in

Virginia Lee's Personal Answers To Herald Readers' Questions

There are many little odd jobs of cleaning which the thrifty housewife would like to do at home if she but knew how. I have received to be given the home nurse in the numerous requests for directions for cleaning then again "don't." Most ear trouthis and that; sometimes it is a simple little bles are symptoms rather than disthing, but ofttimes a professional cleaner is the eases in themselves. The ear is a only one who could do it successfully.

There are a number of simple methods for the ear to the throat is often the cleaning woolens. Some, of course, can be ing noises, and spells of temporary washed with soap and water, others freshened deafness should warn you to con by dry-cleaning, (gasoline, benzine or cleaning sult a good physician. Do not try powders) and others by steaming, sponging and pressing. The last to explore the outer ear with hairtwo are the ones which we most often wish to put to use. To pins or matches. remove grease and dirt some mild soap with water should be applied or in a grown-up member of the followed by clear water. To remove shine use one tablespoon of family in the night when it is not ammonia to one quart of water, followed by clear water. This should be applied with a clean strip of cleth or a piece of the material heat may be applied. No another moment he knew. For the be applied with a clean strip of cloth or a piece of the material other treatment may be given by itself, using light even strokes in the direction of the grain of the an amateur. It is your duty as goods. Iron on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron or press the guardian of the family health, with a dame cleat watch carefully for I'm held fast to the with a damp cloth over the right side. The nap should be raised signs of ear troubles. From cawith a brush if pressed down too closely.

Husband in Error.

Bushand in Error.

Dear Miss Lee: I have been married afteen years and have four of the best children that ever lived. I have always done my own work, made practically all of the children's and my own clothes and made both ends meet when it seemed next to impossible, and never minded it at all.

Now, when I ask my husband for $5 or $10 to buy shoes or a shirtwaist he tells me that I do not earn anything and that I must remember it is his money that I am spending and intimates that I should adore the ground he walks upon for any such favors on his part. His assertion that I do not earn anything hurt me more than I can say and it doesn't seem fair to me. What do you think about it?—JUST A HOUSEWIFE.

If things in your home are just

If things in your home are just as you have represented them, your band is undeniably in the wrong. It is true that you do not go out, as he does, and make money with some firm, but in your home you have done work that would bring more than enough to support you just by keeping your house in order, caring for the children and making their clothes. In addition, you have made his house a home and cared for the little ones, and he owes you a goodly part of all he earns. Many women of today do go out and earn a living in the business world, some because they enjoy following a profession for whilch they have talent, others be- and the patient should at once be case they consider work in an office eight hours a day preferable and less nerve racking than work from dawn to dusk in the home.

Clean Leather Bag.

Dear Miss Lee: Please tell me how I can clean a blue leather pocket book. It is very handsome, but soiled and I hate to throw it away.—DISTRESSED. I have seen leather hand bags cleaned successfully by a local cleaning shop. I will be glad to furnish you with the name of such

Two Points OF NECESSITY IN A WOMAN'S TOILET

A Paper of Pins AND A BOX OF

Powder Antiseptic ONE HOLDS AND THE OTHER HEALS

The holding power of the pins you know about. The healing power of the powder is greater because it never slips out. This useful little utility will be mailed free to ladies upon request. J. S. TYREE. Chemist. Inc. Washington.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By MILDRED MARSHALL Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

GENEVIEVE.

Genevieve signifies "white wave." without success.

History has established the fact plication and steadfastness of purthat the first Genevieve was a Gaul pose. born at Nanterre in 422 and could her entreaties that the wounded be spared. When she died she was erected into the primary patron saint of Paris, and is adored as such by all Parisians down from Anne Genevieve de Bourbon. The Teutons have a Saint Genevefa of Brahant, to whom has attached the by malicious accusation to the her Genoveffa; Germany, Genovefa, Vevay and Vefele; and Russia Zeneand bad luck. Monday is her lucky day and 5 her mystic number. "Maid of love, sweet Genevieve,

In beauty's light you glide along; Your eye is like the star of eye. And sweet your voice as seraph's Yet not your heavenly beauty gives glow: your soul

It blds you hear the tale of woe.' (Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Don't Mistreat the Ear

The most important instruction treatment of the ear is "don't" and most sensitive organ and the Eustachian tube which leads from tarrhal conditions in the nose and throat the inner ear may be affected and a condition of mastoiditis or sinus troubles may follow which might mean a severe operation.

Ear noises are sometimes the result of increased blood-pressure put on a proper diet and given a general overhauling by a specialist. From the delicate nerve cells in the inner ear there is a direct telephone system to the brain. We "become accustomed" to noise, and the objective mind really is unaware of it, but too much noise such as that of the average city street beating its tattoo on the ear drum without cessation may have a far-reaching effect.

(Copyright, 1920, by the M-C Syndicate)

Fashionable Nancy

The clever little Japa Have color schemes that always please They mingle soft, illusive hues Deep purples, yellows, greens and blues In her kimono, Nance is gay— As cheerful as a bright Spring day.

IS THIS YOUR TYPE?

By MARIE LA ROQUE

Eyes of Genius.

It has the same origin as Gwen, the faculty of taking infinite pains vieve as a combination of Gan characteristic of men and women of (magic) and vaips (a crown), but genius is that which shows extremely close scrutiny, intense ap-

As a matter of fact the eye itself scarcely have been given anything but a Keltic or a Roman name, and the whole family of Gwens were may be blue or gray or brown or dear to the Cymric race, whose religion was the same as the Gaul and Briton.

Genevieve was a shepherdess like Joan of Arc, who anticipated her deeds of participated her deeds of pa Joan of Arc, who anticipated her chance for expression in the eye it deeds of patriotism, though she wore no armor and carried no under emotion and become moist, so sword. When Paris was besieged by the Franks she walked forth unarmed in search of provisions, expression is all achieved by the and her heroism so impressed the play of the muscles around the eye. savage Franks that they granted And so it is to the contour and Brabant, to whom has attached the story of the wife who was driven by malicious accuration and the pupil. Eyes that show some white above the iris show restlesswhose eyes habitually show white woods, where she gave birth to an infant and was nourished by a white doe until her innocence was And this is not difficult to account

The French use Genevieve, also for. Just to make it clear to your-Javotte and Genevion; Italy makes self, deliberately concentrate on some subject that needs close thought. Notice how the upper eye, lid is lowered over the eyeball, how it becomes fixed and steady. The Her talismanic stone is amber, it becomes fixed and steady. The straightened in contour. Well, the person of genius or the person who Coleridge wrote a charming lyric achieves so much that he is reputed to possess genius is the person who habitually concentrates. His eyes get into the habit of holding this settled characteristic of his physiognomy. Morse could never have invented the telegraph, nor could Marconi have worked out the wireless had they not lowered their eyelids in thought and concentration. They never could have acquired the vast fund of information and experience needed to carry on their experiments had they not habitually held their eyelids in this position. It is said that eyebrows that slope lownward toward the center show an aptitude for figures. This is a checking privileges, which is considered the British Venus. The planet is Seren-Wener, as a morning star. Teutonic etymologists have tried to construe Geneing point, passing in long sweep-ing, drooping lines slightly down-ward in termination, they show artistic feeling and a sense of beauty of really surpassing endowments the line is very nearly straight.

Very frequently persons of genius have eyes that give the effect of being very deep set and this is doubtare drawn over them to concentra tion of thought and application Among men who had deep set eyes were: Darwin, Gladstone, Andrey Jackson, Alexander Hamilton, Patrick Henry, Huxley, Thomas Jefferson, Thoreau, Tolstoy, Washington, Webster and Walt Whitman-all men of genius of one sort or an-

Here's a Tip to Waiters.

If the service isn't up to the standard these days, don't blame the waiter. Maybe his abstraction is due to the fact that he's figuring on the amount of tax he will have to pay on his tips for last year. Such gratuities to waiters, bellboys porters, etc., are not regarded as gifts, but as compensation for personal service rendered. And the government purposes to collect also

No Waste Motion Here

The packing business is noted for the elimination of waste in manufacturing.

Swift & Company is equally effective in saving waste in the distribution of products.

From ranch or farm to your meat dealer there is no loss of time, money, material, or motion.

Four hundred branch sales houses in large cities and towns, hundreds of regular refrigerator car routes reaching small towns, all directed by wire from a central point, bring meat products from our packing plants located in producing areas, to retailers in all parts of the country in the best possible condition, in the least possible time, at the least possible cost, and over the most direct route.

The total expense, for manufacture, freight, and selling direct to the retailer, is less than three cents per pound on all meat sold.

Our profit from all sources is only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Competition compels this close-cut saving. Large volume of business, a well-balanced, nation-wide organization, and expert attention to details by men who know, make it possible.

We are in your service—at least expense and profit.

> Send for our 1920 Year Book and get the facts about our business. Address Swift & Company, Union Chicago, Illinois Stock Yards, Swift & Company, U.S.A.

Washington Local Branch, 10-14 Center Market D. T. Dutrow, Manager,

CHILDREN'S Helene's Married Life SUNRISE STORIES By May Christie UNCLE WIGGILY AND (Copyright, 19290, McClure Syndicate.) JOHNNIE'S JELLY. By HOWARD R. GARIS XXXVII.—An Irritating